THE MISSISSIPPI LEVEES. It is to be hoped that Young, Money and halmers will co-operate in their efforts to secure an appropriation for leveeing the Mississippi river. This is a subject of vital imce. In discussing the very able letter ished the APPEAL by Major Minor Merither two weeks ago, the St. Louis Repub-

Hundreds of millions have been spent in the improvement and protection of the rivers and harbors on that portion of the Atlantic coast lying north of the James river, and yet when loss than fifty millions is asked for an object in which every State west of the Alleghenies and cast of the Rocky mountains is interested, the politicians and journals of New Engand and vicinity denounce it as "a and tast of the Rocky mountains is interested, the politicians and journals of New England and vicinity dengance it as "a gigantic swindle." In their opinion the mighty stream which drains half a continent, and whose valley furnishes a larger variety of valuable products than can be found anywhere else, in the same extent of territory, on earth, is "a local affair" only, and its protection and improvement "belong to the adjacent States and not to the general government." Hell Gate and Harlem river. Podank harbor and Hullaballoo sound, are national; the Mississippi and all its attachments, local! This zort of argument has shaped congressional legislation long enough, and there are encouraging indications that it will soon give place to logic based on common justice and common sense. The Mississippi put in proper condition at the expense of the Federal government, all opposition to the contrary notwith tanding. Sectional prejudice and jealousy may delay and embarrass this consummation, but they can not prayent. The states are unit.

PACTS TO BE CONSIDERED.

The extra session of the legislature meets to-morrow, and the APPEAL of Thursday will contain Governor Porter's message. From present indications the members will perform the remarkable feat of the traditional king who, with ten thousand men, marched ip the hill, then marched down again. There will be three hostile parties in the legislature -one advocating a compromise at sixty cents another at fifty, and the last at thirty. Any nise made at sixty cents will not be worth the paper on which it is written, if the friends of low tax appeal to the people, and the legislature which convenes in two years from January should reopen the the Republican party. juestion, and ignore the settlement, just as they did the funding bili. The APPHAL favors the compromise proposed by the bondholders, believing it to be liberal, and it expresses the hope that the message of Governor Porter will furnish such convincing facts as to induce the members of the legislature to accept this compromise with such ty as to induce the belief that the settlement is a final one. But if the question settlement is a final one. But if the question connected, was sentenced this morning to is to be made an issue in the next canvass, it saven years in the Joliet penitentiary. is better to remit all these propositions to the people, if the legislature has the power to do so. Before the people of Tennessee plunge into the maelstrom of regulation, we ask them to take into consideration a few facts.

Prominent among these is the undeniable fact that there are but two States in the Union which pay a smaller State tax than Tennessee. Next, let the people of our State compare their resources and their indebted.

The credit of the State must be restored to and maintained at, its ancient high charac ter, before we can make good our promises of reform, or can expect her to take the proud position she once held, and to which it should be our highest duty and our nobiest ambi-tion to restore her. This object can, I fee convinced, be accomplished by this general assembly, without imposing upon our impoverished people an onerous burden. As a commission was appointed by the legislature at its last session to consider this subject, it would be premature, if not indelicate, in me to make any specific recommendations in advance of their report, and I ven-ture now only to express the hope

The public debt can surely be so adjusted that, while the welfare of the State is carefully guarded, the rights of creditors shall not be violated or impaired. The very fact that a State can exercise powers in question of this nature, against which no remedy exists, state can be received a state of the interests of creditors, whose sole protection is in the honor of their debtors. An ardent desire to see the credit of the State intained and her faith untarnished is my sole reason for presenting these views; and with the hope that they will meet the ap-proval of the legislature and of the patriotic people of the State, I leave this vital matter
